

Utility Project Management

Clients understandably focus on what they are good at and the management of utilities is often last on the list of priorities. The core of Apogee's business is the management of utilities, on time and on budget.

We draw on decades of experience and an unrivalled understanding of how to manage and incentivise utilities to meet development programs. With a deep understanding of how the utilities operate, their processes and contacts at all levels in all the different types of utility Apogee's project management service is second to none.

A Fixed Fee approach that includes regular reporting to the client's requirements including a full audit trail. Our fee structure includes a no win no fee gain share provision which incentivises the management of value engineering and the reduction of costs. We even accept penalty and retention provisions to ensure that we focus on efficient and timely delivery of our services.
